

Dear Expert Witness

Welcome to your Expert Witness Update – the new companion to our directory and award-winning website www.expertwitness.co.uk.

This will keep you informed about issues of immediate relevance to you as a subscriber and an expert. Expert Witness continues to lead the way in using marketing technology to build reputations and relationships with the key litigators.

If you want to update your credentials or profile (for instance, you can add up to three attachments or 20 keywords to help interested parties find you and identify your expertise more easily), visit the Client Area of our website at:

website;http://www.expertwitness.co.uk/ClientArea.asp

If you have any Expert Witness stories or articles you would like to have published on the website please contact me.

ExpertWitness

10th Anniversary Edition

Out Now

Ranked No 1 on Google

Keith Walton

Editor

PHF - Helping the Expert

Our attention has been drawn to PHF, a company formed in 2004, which offers a complete and unique range of private medical practice management services. We understand that they manage the practices of over 100 private practitioners and GPs in the UK

They have experienced practice management teams to manage your diary, make appointments and liaise with your patients. They handle all letter production from dictation through to sending out the letters and of course, also handle all billing work and ensure all monies are collected quickly to avoid any potential debt problems. Their Clients' diary, letters and full patient records are all web-based and accessible through personal and secure log-in on their website. A truly paperless practice!

PHF now offers the same services to any consultants wanting to establish a new, or grow an existing, medico-legal practice. They receive instruction letters from solicitors on behalf of their clients, make the appointments, update the client's on-line diary and then prepare the medico-legal report to the industry's exacting standards. They will also bill the instructing parties and ensure prompt collection of report fees.

The aim of their service is to make sure your practice runs smoothly across any number of locations, allowing you more time to prepare top quality reports, enhance your reputation as a leading medico-legal expert witness and perhaps even to grow your business in the future. They also have good working relationships with all the leading medico-legal agencies. They claim that by registering with them they can help increase the number of instructions you receive.

In addition, they charge a commission based upon the revenues they bill on your behalf. This ensures they are as motivated as you are to grow your practice!

If you would like to know more about their services, please visit their website at www.phf.uk.com or call them on 0870 743 4876.